About the Eastern Shawnee Tribe of Oklahoma
The Eastern Shawnee Tribe of Oklahoma is one of three (3) federally-recognized Shawnee tribes: the Eastern Shawnee on the Oklahoma-Missouri border near Wyandotte, OK; the Absentee Shawnee near Shawnee, OK; and the Shawnee Tribe in Miami, OK. These three tribes were recognized as autonomous nations during the Indian removal era. Prior to treaty the latter tribe was given a tract of land on the south bank of the Kansas river from its mouth to its junction with the Republican. This was in 1825, in which year members of the tribe began to arrive in the new reservation, settling in what is now Shawnee township, Wyandotte county, Kansas. By 1828 most of the Shawnees had moved to the new home west of Missouri, and later (1831) the Fish band, including the families of Tecumseh and 'the Prophet,' to which band they belonged, moved from Ohio and joined the western division, practically uniting the Shawnee people.

'I have discussed these migrations with a Mrs. Jackson, grandmother of the wife of David De Shance, an intelligent Shawnee living a mile below Seneca, Mo., in the reservation of the mixed Senecas and Shawnees. She claimed in 1896 to be 125 years old, and was in fair health and in possession of her faculties, though wrinkled and shrunk to the appearance of a mummy, and, being feeble, compelled to keep to her bed much of the time. She remembered crossing the Mississippi, the life at Cape Girardeau, the abandonment of that country, the migration to the Delawares on the James Fork of the Ohio, and the journey to the Kansas river. The Eastern Shawnee Tribe of Oklahoma is proud to partner with Ohio History Connection to present a digital library of its past and cultural heritage. Funding for this searchable database is made possible by the Administration for Native Americans.

The Eastern Shawnee Tribe of Oklahoma is compiling a digital collection of images and documents to aid in historical and genealogical research. Our digital library will expand to include additional material as we recover more materials through research trips at various archives and depositories. Archives are continuously being updated and new collections added. Please check back often as we add to this digital collection.
